

VETERAN ADVISERS RETIRE

After 8 years of service to the College, Louise Turner and Ann Kochan have retired from the Regional Advisement staff to make more time for travel with their families.

Supported by the local branch of the American Association of University Women, Louise and Ann established the pilot location of an advisement center for the College in the Bridgeport Public Library in 1978.

Since that time they have conducted advisement interviews for well over 3,000 persons at that location and elsewhere in surrounding communities.

Appointed to succeed them in the Greater Bridgeport area is Ann Taft of Woodbridge. Ann holds a B.A. degree in History from Regis College and a M.A. in Asian History from Salem State College.

She has previously held positions in Washington, DC as a Legislative Issues Coordinator and Issues Analyst, and in New Haven as Education Coordinator for the Office of Urban Affairs for the Archdiocese of Hartford.

Charter Oak College magnets, designed by Joe Gosselin, are available for $1.25 from the College office as a fundraiser for the Alumni Association.
